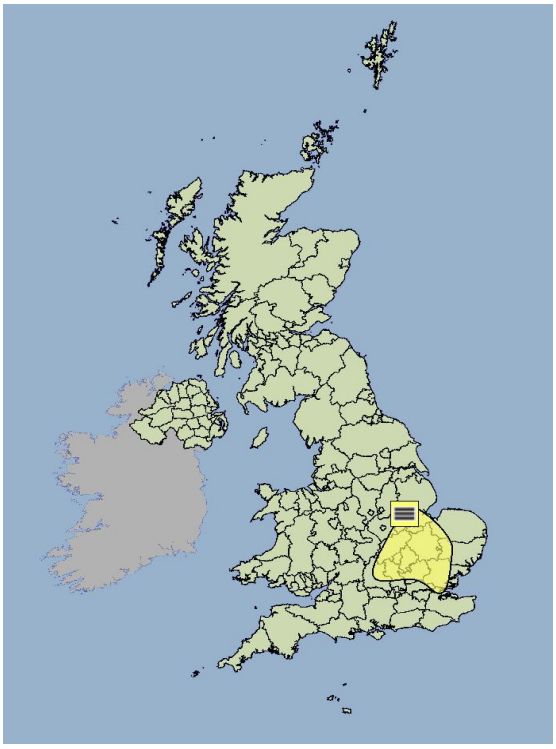
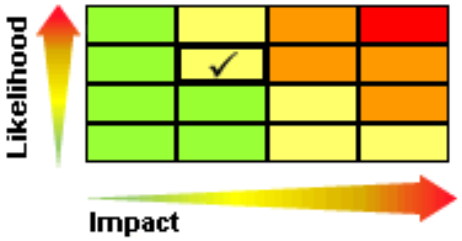
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A moist chilly easterly drift is leading to a lot of low cloud and fog this morning, some over the hills and some at low levels too. Visibilities are quite variable, some locations staying largely fog free, others seeing notably poor conditions.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Fog

Valid from 05:50 on Tue, 28th Mar 2017 until 09:30 on Tue, 28th Mar 2017

Areas of fog, with visibilities locally below 100m, will continue to affect some eastern and southeastern counties of England until later this morning.

This may cause localised disruption on roads and perhaps delays at some airports, before gradually lifting and clearing from the south.
